

Air1 is one of the very few stations I listen to. Taking it off the air would be a sad day. We need more stations that provide music with just good music on it. Their type of music fills a need for me and others, especially young people. It is hard to find a station that has clean words and positive outlook on life. By replacing the station to a LPFM you are limiting the few stations that bring us positive music and the uniqueness that it has. Sharon Maurin
